

Thou, O God, art praised in Sion

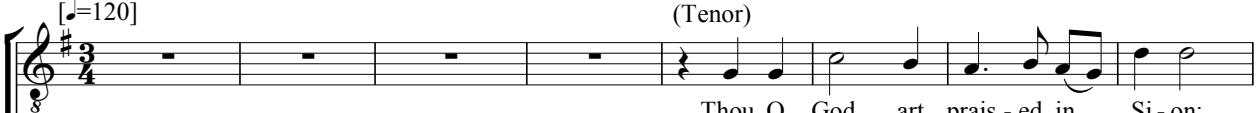

Book of Common Prayer

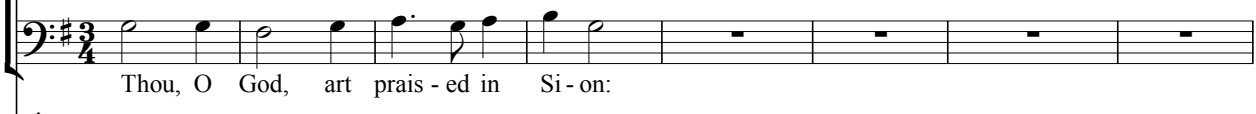

Psalm 65 verses 1, 12, 14

James Evison (b. 1695)

Edited by Tony Singleton and Francis Roads

[♩=120] (Tenor)

Tenor [Air]

Bass

Keyboard

9

T

B

Kbd.

15

T

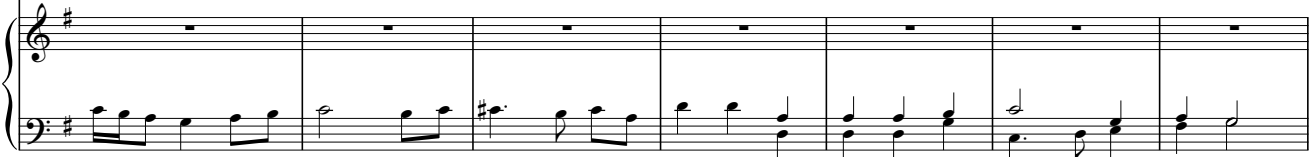

B

Kbd.

22

T

B

Kbd.

Thou, O God, art praised in Sion

29

S

A

T

B

Kbd.

The folds shall be full of

The folds shall be full of corn, that they shall laugh and sing. The folds shall be full of corn, that they shall laugh and sing. The folds shall be full of 35

S

A

T

B

Kbd.

sheep, the val - lies shall stand so thick with corn, that they shall sheep, the val - lies shall stand so thick with corn, that they shall sheep, the val - lies shall stand so thick with corn, that they shall sheep, the val - lies shall stand so thick with corn, that they shall

Thou, O God, art praised in Sion

41

S laugh and sing, the val - lies shall stand so thick with

A laugh and sing, the val - lies shall stand so thick with

T laugh and sing, the val - lies shall stand so thick with

B laugh and sing, the val - lies shall stand so thick with

Kbd.

46

S
corn that they shall laugh and sing sing

A
corn that they shall laugh and sing sing

T
corn that they shall laugh and sing sing

B
corn that they shall laugh and sing sing

Kbd.

Editorial emendations:

- Bar 27 T note 2; orig. e;
- bar 43 A note 1: orig. a';
- bar 45 S note 2: orig. g'; A note 2: orig. c';
- bar 48 S note 1; orig. c''.