

O come, loud anthems let us sing

1

New Version of Tate and Brady (1696)

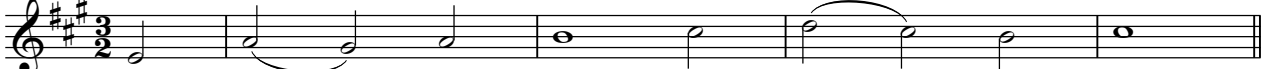

Litchet, by William Knapp (c1698-1768)

Edited by Francis Roads

Psalm 95 verses 1, 2, 6, 7, & 8

[♩=96]

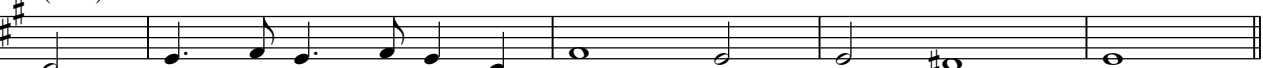

Tenor

1. O come, loud an - thems let us sing,
2. In - to his pre - sence let us haste
3. O let us to his courts re - pair
4. For he's our God, our shep - herd he

4 (Alto)

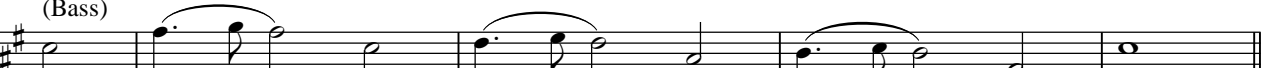

A

Loud thanks to our al - migh - ty King.
To thank him for his fa - vours past;
And bow with a - do - ra - tion there;
His flock and pas - ture sheep are we;

8 (Bass)

B

For we our voi - ces loud should raise
To him ad - dress our joy - ful songs,
Down on our knees de - vout - ly all
If then you, like his flock, draw near

12 (Soprano)

S

When our sal - va - tion's rock we praise.
The praise that to his name be - longs.
Be - fore the Lord our ma - ker fall.
To - day if you his voice will hear;

5. Let not your hardened hearts renew
Your fathers' crimes and judgments too;
Nor here provoke my wrath, as they
In desert plains of Meribah.

This version of Litchet is edited from the Colby MSS, IOM. The verses chosen by their scribe, William Shepherd, end with a semicolon in mid sense. Verse 8 of the original has been added here as verse 5 so that sense may be made of the text.

Knapp's relay tunes, such as Litchet, exhibit the interesting feature that the bass solo passage from bars 8-12 reappears as the bass to bars 17-20.

O come, loud anthems let us sing
